Good in Bed

Adam loves Nina.

It's that simple. And Adam thinks they have the perfect relationship, until the one fateful day when he finds out that his girlfriend is occasionally faking her climax. Completely devastated, he turns to his best friends Ulf, Stefan and Karl for advice. But Ulf, who claims that he and his girlfriend have a completely honest relationship, is absolutely no help at all. Stefan, on the other hand, who anyway barely sees any action, wouldn't recognize a real climax if it hit him on the head. That leaves Karl, who's a hard-core ladies' man.

He can't even relate to Adam's problem... after all, HE's never been fooled before. None of his many women would ever need to fake it because he's just that good... He's God's gift to women! But now for all of them the hunt is on. Scouring the Internet for information, armed with a small library of reference books on the subject and even equipped with a crate of oranges, the four friends embark on a wild and wacky search for the real climax...
