Part-time Pregnancy

The young, dynamic Nina Hedler works for a publishing house where she is preparing the educational "Dino Project". When she learns that her company is being taken over by a rival firm, she's floored and frightened that she'll lose her job. While drowning her sorrows at a bar, her cheery roommate Babette comes up with a "brilliant" plan - Nina should pretend to be pregnant - at least until her project is given the go-ahead. Nina is horrified by the idea... no way will she lie. Suddenly an attractive man, Dominik, appears beside her. Before the night is over, they swap phone numbers. The next morning, a very hung-over Nina finds her colleagues in the same gloomy mood. Then, during a meeting with her nasty boss Ms Schulte-Westenberg, Nina suddenly has to vomit... and her fake pregnancy is on. Now she must play the part, but it's not going to be so easy. Where can you get a fake "baby belly", and how do you get a doctor's certification? The biggest dilemma, however, is that Nina's new boss is none other than Dominik.

And so begins Nina's double life: pregnant in the office under Ms Schulte-Westenberg's suspicious gaze, then carefree with Dominik, who believes Nina to be an elementary school teacher helping out as an educational consultant at the publishing house. Everything is moving smoothly until Dominik decides to have the "Dino Project" presented at an upcoming trade fair, and he can't wait to meet the clever colleague behind the project. Nina's charade looks like it's about to fall apart... the situation couldn't get any worse! Nina manages to keep Dominik away from the trade fair. Her presentation is hugely successful, but then Dominik suddenly shows up - and she is forced to tell Dominik the truth. Devastated by the feeling that Nina used him in order to further her own project, he dejectedly leaves the hall. Meanwhile, her presentation has impressed the head office of her publishing house and they offer Nina a position in Frankfurt, which for her is a dream come true. But suddenly she's uncertain... is it what she really wants?
