Princess Undercover

Princess Undercover

Isabella, the crown princess of Luxenstein, has everything that a young royal could want... a life of luxury, wonderful parents and even the attention of a young prince, Ferdinand, who seeks her hand in marriage. For the restless Isabella, however, one vital thing is missing - she yearns to know the life and freedom of a normal girl. She begins an internship at her kingdom's embassy in Berlin where she insists on keeping her true identity secret. Luk, a landscape gardener at the embassy, recruits the new "apprentice" as an assistant. Isabella is ecstatic about her new life... and the vibrant nightlife of Berlin. After one particularly wild night out she awakens in Luk's apartment, completely oblivious to what had taken place the night before. The embassy's chauffeur, who doubles as a spy for the royal family, duly informs them of Isabella's "indiscretions". Her parents are horrified at her behavior, but the insistent young royal refuses to give up her new life. Now happy in love, Isabella's secret is threatened with the arrival of her father, the King of Luxenstein... and Prince Ferdinand. Isabella has no choice but to reveal her true identity to Luk, who is shocked. Determined not to give up her new lifestyle, Isabella breaks up with the prince. It's the love in Luk's heart she now longs for, and not the crown of Luxenstein...
