The Fidelity Test

The Fidelity Test

Franziska doesn't believe in love, much less in the institution of "marriage". She believes that sooner or later, every man will cheat on his woman. Of course, her unusual occupation might have something to do with that cynical attitude - the 29-year-old's job is to act as bait for potentially unfaithful men. Once hired by a suspicious wife, Franziska presents herself to the husband as an easy conquest until her assistant Alfonso is able to document the infidelity with a camera. So far, she's never failed...

That is, until now. When Franziska is hired by Claudia to seduce her husband Markus, to his wife's great surprise, he resists all of her attempts.

In this day and age, a faithful husband actually exists? With the agreed-upon time for the "job" drawing to a close and Claudia getting more anxious for the expected results, Franziska ramps up her efforts and attempts to seduce Markus with every trick in her book.

Then comes the last thing she could have possibly expected - she falls in love with the man! What Franziska doesn't know is that Claudia has a special reason why she wants to prove her husband unfaithful, a reason related to her newly-started affair with Markus' best friend Holger...
