Time Warp

Chief Inspector Maik has been desperately hunting a serial killer. When the murderer takes a hostage, Maik's team follows his trail into the maze of subway tunnels under the streets of Berlin. Detecting an ancient air raid shelter not marked on their map, they find the kidnapped woman. As they attempt to free her, a bomb that had been rigged to her explodes, killing the woman instantly.

Maik's investigation leads him to Udo, who reveals the existence of another, forgotten system of tunnels whose construction plans have been long lost in the German Democratic Republic. Then another woman is kidnapped - Maik's pregnant girlfriend Bettina.

Frantically, Maik assembles a huge task force to locate her in the subway tunnels.

After barely evading an oncoming train, he suddenly passes out - only to awaken in a GDR hospital - in 1984! Somehow transported through time and space, Maik soon discovers a clue to the identity of the man who will later abduct Bettina.

In the time where Maik now mysteriously finds himself, he investigates everybody that has access to the tunnel plans as well as even the tiniest details that could shed light on the case. Once more in the tunnel system, the inexplicable phenomenon repeats itself and Maik is suddenly returned to the present time.

Armed with his insight of the past, he now knows what to do - but the clock is ticking...
