Mythological X

Mythological X

What does a single 30+ woman think when she is told that the love of her life is one of the exes that she dumped? She actually stops thinking and goes back to seek out the one... the one she left behind.

Michal Golan, is a 35 year old city girl, who works as a freelance photographer. She is what you would call "a good girl", somewhat neurotic and much more complex than she tends to think of herself. In her fantasies there is nothing more Michal wishes than to find her prince, get married and start a family. In reality this is easier said than done.

A hopeless romantic, addicted to the thrills that a budding relationship brings, Michal found herself in many, many relationships. Some, more meaningful than others, but all have one thing in common - these romances never last long. Something or someone always manages to ruin things, like the man's overbearing mother, the needy, crybaby younger guy or the one which her father just couldn't stand.

We first meet Michel straight out of yet another failed relationship. Trying to cope with another breakup she decides to go to a fortune teller, an encounter that will change her life. In her "reading", the psychic tells Michal that if she does not marry within a year, she is going to spend the rest of her life alone. Moreover, apparently, she has already met the man of her dreams... From this point on Michal sets off on her life's journey. In a light blend of hilarious, heartfelt and dramatic moments, each episode introduces a new date with an old flame, as she once again gets together with the men she once dated.

Which ex will win her over the second time around? Will she find Mr. Right? Will it be the guy who was once merely "Mr. Right Now"?
